Provocation Resource Kit Introduction

Hello, My name is Hannah Gray and I am a Registered Early Childhood Educator, and Seneca College student studying resource consulting in early childhood education. I am also a placement student working with the Community Living Trent Highlands Resource Consulting team. I have developed a provocation resource for educators working in licensed child care programs, within the Lindsay and the Kawartha Lakes area.

Within each resource, educators will have access to curated materials stimulating all of the children's senses, and align with program goals supported through the Ontario Ministry of Education's guiding document How Does Learning Happen. It is my hope that any of these resources will be living fixtures in your classroom, useful for your practice, and observable of sparking curiosity and exploration of the children in your care. Any and all feedback from you about the relevance of the provocation resource is greatly encouraged.
